Re: Metergy/QuadLogic Controls Corp. Meters Testing

Dear Shareholders,

We want to take a moment to express our gratitude for your continued patience and engagement as we monitor the electric billing.

After many discussions with Metergy regarding their investigations they proposed conducting an accuracy reading on each meter in question at a cost to High Meadow.

To mitigate potential unnecessary costs, we believe it is essential to make informed decisions that align with the best interests of all shareholders while maintaining fiduciary obligations and the overall integrity of our operations. Therefore, at this time the Board has decided not to move forward with Metergy's proposed testing of the meters for electric usage accuracy.

However, for any shareholder who believes their meter readings are inaccurate, we kindly ask that shareholders create an organized list or line graph of electric usage (not charges) for each month over the past two years and submit it to the Board and Stillman Management for further review with Metergy. To facilitate a thorough evaluation, providing comprehensive evidence that the reading or usage is incorrect is concrete data that can be presented to Metergy when disputing charges.

We appreciate your understanding and cooperation in this matter. Your insights and contributions are crucial as we strive to maintain transparency and accountability in our operations. We are committed to keeping you informed and involved every step of the way.

Thank you once again for your continued trust and support. Should you have any questions or suggestions, please feel free to email us at highmeadowcooperative@gmail.com.

Warm regards,

Board of Directors
